

Our Story

The Social Consult, was founded by Dr. Niam T. Malachi, LCBB, CMS, an organizational and community psychologist in 2019, solely to provide process improvement, strategic planning and change management services to corporate entities. Its evolution occurred in 2020 when Dr. Malachi saw it urgent to bridge her consulting psychology background with her relentless, lifelong pursuit to resolve social issues. Soon after, Executive Coaching, Corporate Wellness, and Diversity, Equity, Inclusion and Belonging were added to the Social Consult's line of services. The Social Consult's offerings were then expanded to not for profit organizations and government entities. The Social Consult has grown to include dynamic and compassionate consulting partners and a Generation Z internship program, providing a space for emerging leaders to be creative, innovative and enterprising.

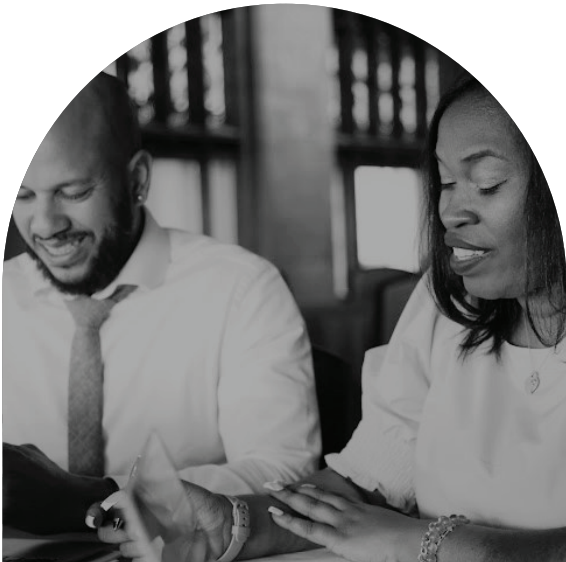

Our Vision:

To set a standard where organizations and people grow together

Our Mission:

Helping clients reach their objectives while pouring into the soul of the organization, their people. We are committed to both tradition and compassion by fusing evidence-based methods with social well-being
